Cycling is not just sport...

„When I was a boy, bike was the first vehicle that allowed me to explore what is behind the horizons. I cycled everywhere. Soon I realised that cars and trains are too fast and closed to experience the beauty of what is out there and walking/running is too slow and constraining to the immediate region. I never owned the car and don't feel I need to. Cycling is my preferred mode of getting from A to B, explore the world, feel the wind in my hair and experience the near-the-flying sensation as the bicycle rolls over the road.“
